DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 25-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification does not disclose what a "partial deformation" is. The phrase suggests only a portion of the stack is deformed, but the specification does not disclose such.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 25-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear what is meant by a "partial deformation" as the specification does not disclose any deformations that do not occur to the entirety of the stack. For the purposes of examination, it is assumed to mean a deformation which reduces the stack part of the way to its final intended thickness.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 25-30, 32-34, and 36-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Krauss et al.(U.S. Patent 6,393,868).

Krauss et al. discloses layering multiple layers of materials with different refractive indices together, drawing the thickness down, adding a carrier plate and drawing them down together.(Col. 4, ll. 19-25; Figures 9(a)-(e)) Since the stacks are more than 4 layers high, they contain two “base” layers and multiple internal “dielectric” layers. The carrier is considered to form part of one of the base layers. This rejection can be overcome by a filing of a certified translation of applicant's priority document showing the claimed invention.

Regarding claim 26, the thicknesses of the layers are different.(Col. 2, ll. 55-58)

Regarding claim 27, the layers are glass.(Col. 2, ll. 65)

Regarding claim 28, the layers have different indices of refraction.(Col. 2, ll. 55-58)

Regarding claim 30, at least two double layers are stacked.(Figure 9c)

Regarding claim 33, the base layers are glass.(Col. 2, ll. 65)

Art Unit: 1733

Regarding claim 34, the dielectric layers are joined by fusion.(Col. 3, ll. 17-19)

Regarding claim 36, the deforming includes a drawing step.(Col. 3, ll. 7-11)

Regarding claim 37, the deforming includes a step of heating.(Col. 3, ll. 7-8)

Regarding claim 38, the stack is placed on a drum during the drawing process,
